RELATIONAL CAPACITY

Referred to equipe working experiences

The full time clinical career (starting 1985) has been spent in the practice of multidisciplinary team work in collaboration with nurses, social workers, psychologists, spiritual and philosophical counsellors dedicated to the control of pain, other symptoms and suffering and to the global care of advanced cancer patients. This main clinical focus has been integrated with the continuous contact and liaison, at the bedside and in research, with clinical oncology, surgery and radiotherapy specialists in a major tertiary cancer centre. AC worked as well clinically and in the organization of research and other scientific activities in international and multiethnic contexts. In his professional life AC developed a sharing and balanced attitude in managing professional individual and team relationship favouring professional courtesy and applying where appropriate a non-authoritarian leadership model
